

Foundations of Bioethics

Oct 11-14, 2022

Join our collaborative, global, and popular 4-day program!

The Interdisciplinary Center for Bioethics at Yale University will host our 5th annual Foundations of Bioethics program.

Join us for an introduction to ethical theory; bioethical principles, theories, terms, and history; and sessions on some of the most pressing bioethics topics today.

This virtual program will include live lectures, an asynchronous curriculum with short video lectures, and small-group discussion forums along with informal talks about careers in bioethics.

Participants & faculty often hail from all corners of the globe, from Addis Ababa to Montreal, Lima to Adelaide, and Strasbourg to Tehran.

Special Reduced Program Fees for 2022: $400 (students) and $550 (professionals)

Request Registration here:

<https://bioethics.yale.edu/foundations-bioethics-4-day-program> or contact

Lori Bruce, Program Director, at bioethics@Yale.edu

Lori Bruce, MA, MBE, HEC-C
Director, Sherwin B. Nuland Summer Institute in Bioethics
Associate Director, Interdisciplinary Center for Bioethics, Yale University
Co-Director, Adult Ethics Committee, Yale-New Haven Hospital
Chair, Community Bioethics Forum, Yale School of Medicine
bioethics@Yale.edu